The Sons of Erin in Coachman's Inn

The Sons of Erin band will appear this Easter Sunday night in The Coachman's Inn, Roscommon starting at 10.30pm. The band is made up of Paul Watchorn on vocals, banjo and guitar along with Shay Kavanagh on bass and vocals.

Paul is rated amongst one of the best 5 String banjo players in Ireland and as such has played all over the world, he is also an accomplished guitar player and vocalist. Music runs in Paul's family, his brother Patsy was the main singer with the Dublin City Ramblers for 30 years and is now the main singer with The Dubliners.

Shay was a member of the Dublin City Ramblers for over 14 years and in that time travelled and played all over the world and was a familiar face as part of the entertainment on the Cruise Ships and Festivals all over the world.

Paul was one of the singers with Derek Warfield of the Wolfetones and has been playing with him for nearly four years as The Wolfetones Derek Warfield and The Sons of Erin Band.

They are ideally placed to continue the great bardic tradition and ensure that the legacy of Ireland's past will continue in song and ballad for many years to come.

The Sons of Erin Band shows are lively and entertaining so make sure you get along to the Coachman's Inn, Roscommon this Sunday night!
