There are many good reasons to treat your mum

It is your mother who brings you to see the light of this world. It is she who looks after the helpless you and serves you with all her heart and does everything to make your life comfortable. Just for a day, at least, we shall stop taking our mothers for granted.

Mother's Day is one occasion that gives you the opportunity to do something for your mother. And if you start wondering about the reasons you need to treat your mother, you would end up with nothing less than a zillion reasons. Let's just remember the most important reasons for which we need to be grateful to our mum and that would be enough to arrange a lavish treat for her on the special occasion of Mother's Day.

Since your childhood you have watched your mum washing and ironing your clothes, keeping your school uniform sparkling and spotless, and your jumpers without a single crease.

You have been lucky enough to be picked and dropped to and from your school every single day right from your first day at school.

Whenever you had a fight and for the slightest reason or if you needed a reason to cry on someone's shoulders, your mum was the one giving you the comfort and patiently listening to all your grumbling!

Just remember the innumerable times you wanted a fresh new set of designer clothes and your mother dug out her pocket money to fulfill your wish.

The food world in which you gorged ever since you were a child and grew up on, was cooked day in and day out by your beloved mother. Just think of the hundreds of incredible dishes she prepared for you, the tasty lunchboxes she fixed for you, the cakes she baked, the snacks, the cups of tea and delicious suppers. It surely makes your mouth water even now!

Your mother is always there for you through every thick-and-thin moment of your life. She is the person you can depend upon to stand by you anytime you need her.

Remember all those difficult undecided moments of life and you needed someone who could make you see reason and pour some worldly-wise advice into your ears. It was surely your mother who lent you patient ears and then pulled you out of the mess in your life.

Think about the tons of love she professes for you everyday through all her acts, big and small. It can't even be measured. It can only be felt.

What your mother does for you is absolutely beyond assessment but when the enormity of her love and sacrifice is felt you realise that surely your mum deserves a special treat this Mother's Day. It would only be a small way to show your gratefulness to her.
