Street art exhibition

Polish native Bon, a artist specialising in street art, will host a colourful and creative exhibition in the Melting Pot, Castlecourt, Roscommon, which will be launched this Friday evening, April 9th, at 7 pm.

25-year-old Bon has lived in Roscommon for over ten years and is part of a newly-formed magazine 'Combo' which examines street art from around the world. The exhibition presents artwork that was created over the last two years. Bon makes templates and used different spray techniques to create his artwork. All are welcome to attend the launch on Friday evening at 7 pm in the Melting Pot Café. Light refreshments will be served.

Anna Boyle exhibition opens

A new exhibition of work by Anna Boyle will open at Roscommon Arts Centre on Friday, 9th April.

The opening reception will run from 5.30 pm to 7 pm, while the exhibition will run from April 9th to May 13th at the Arts Centre, with viewing during centre opening hours. All are welcome.

Anna Boyle's work has evolved from expressionist painting and is inspired by emotionalism within a social context and in particular the Shell Corrib Gas Project in Co. Mayo, for this exhibition. This installation features a series of large paintings containing texts from a bombarded mass environment, such as media, health warnings, advertisement, political posters, policies, etc, which act as a prescribed format for living but instead generate products of anxieties, fears and phobias.

Tiernan shines at comedy night

Kiltoom native Eleanor Tiernan performs as part of the 'Young, Gifted and Green' comedy night at Roscommon Arts Centre, next Wednesday 14th April. Together with The Panel's Dermot Whelan and Aidan Bishop (brother of Des), the trio will provide an evening of hilarious entertainment – and all for just a tenner!

Eleanor Tiernan is a beautiful, smart, funny woman from Kiltoom, Athlone. And not only that but she's a cousin of Tommy, a fact that not many people know. Since starting comedy, she has performed at the Kilkenny Cat Laughs Comedy Festival, the Galway Comedy Festival, in Best of Irish at the Edinburgh Fringe Festival, at the BudLight Comedy Revue and was a semi-finalist in the Paramount Comedy's 'So You Think You're Funny?' competition. Within just a year of starting stand-up Eleanor was asked to perform in Dublin's Vicar St for the RTE production 'The Liffey Laughs', and BBC's 'One Night Stand'.

Catch her on home soil next Wednesday 14th. Booking at (090) 66 25824. Tickets also available at the box office for Karl Spain on Wednesday 12th May and Andrew Maxwell on Wednesday 9th June. More information at www.roscommonartscentre.ie
