Top dance acts for race dance double bill!

Two of Ireland's best dance acts come to the Abbey Hotel in Roscommon this Sunday 13th and Monday 14th June for the annual race dances!

The race dance in the Abbey Hotel is now the biggest dancing festival in the west of Ireland and continues to attract the biggest dance fans from all over Ireland.

The fun starts on Sunday night with the one and only Jimmy Buckley and his band providing the entertainment and on Monday night Galway man Mike Denver and his band will take to the stage for another non-stop two hour dancing extravaganza.

Mike Denver is one of Ireland's brightest young stars and has already built up a huge following in his relatively short time on the Irish circuit.

Doors open for the race dances in the Abbey Hotel, Roscommon at 11 and dancing is from 12 to 2.

Diarmuid & The Bards for Roscommon date

The legendary Diarmuid O'Leary & THE BARDS continue their 2010 tour, in The Abbey Hotel, Roscommon on Saturday July 3rd.

While they are probably best known for their comedy hits such as 'Julia at Lanigans Ball', 'The Oldest Swinger in Town', 'How's She Cuttin'!' etc., an equally strong facet of the group is their ability to render a wide range of more serious and contemporary material like 'Shaney Boy' and 'The Railway Hotel', together with exciting arrangements of traditional Irish music.

As well as the earlier hits, their two hour live show will include many of the eccentric, tongue-in-cheek songs from their 'Comedy Hits Album' like 'Late Starters in Love', 'If I was a Dog', 'Mother Tongue', etc. and material from their brand new album 'The Railway Hotel'.
