10% discount at the fabulous Castlemine Farm!

Castlemine Farm is a family-run business located in Fourmilehouse which produces the very best in beef, pork, lamb, poultry and vegetables. It is run by owner Sean Allen and his two sons, Derek and Brendan, who are the latest of several generations to care for the land.

It was featured on RTE's Higher Ground in 2009 and has grown to offer a wide range of products and services to all its customers. John McKenna, of Best of Bridgestone 2010, described the farm as a 'breakthrough for Irish farming.'

You can now order your produce on-line through their brand new 'Meat Box Builder' which you can use to choose exactly what you want and have it delivered directly to your door.

When you purchase your meat from Castlemine Farm you are eliminating 2 to 3 steps in the normal retail chain (i.e. processor, distributor, supermarket). They can provide you with the highest quality produce direct from their farm at very reasonable prices.

The farm also offers a range of farm walks for those interested in how a farm operates. They cater for educational, heritage, food, agricultural and team building tours. They also have food, farming and butchering demonstrations.

They are also running a summer special for their customers which sees you receive a 10% discount from your purchase if you produce the advert included in this week's Roscommon People at the farm shop.
