Finneran backs plan for Euro-China hub in Athlone

Minister Michael Finneran, right, this week welcomed comments made by An Taoiseach Brian Cowen in relation to the proposed Euro-China trading hub in Athlone and expressed his hope that the proposed development would come to fruition.

Responding to recent media coverage of this proposed project, Minister Finneran said, "An Taoiseach, Brian Cowen TD and the Government have been very supportive of the proposed investment to date."

Minister Finneran has met with the project promoters on a number of occasions, including a visit to their Beijing office during the Minister's St. Patrick's day trip to China this year.

The site of the proposed investment in Athlone, has been designated as a 'developing area' by Westmeath County Council, under Minister Finneran's Developing Areas brief. Minister Finneran's Department has been briefed on the project on a number of occasions.

Minister Finneran, who has been aware of the proposal from an early stage, said, "This project has huge potential for the midlands and the country as a whole. I understand that the project has yet to go through the formal planning processes and that there are still a range of issues to be finalised in terms of the design and phasing of the proposal. I also understand that negotiations are still at an early and sensitive stage, and the project is still some way from being secured. However, the Government will facilitate and support this project in any way that it can", concluded the Minister.
