How do you want your village to develop?

RIDC is interested in assisting community groups with the development of Village Design Statement for a number of areas across the county.

A Village Design Statement is a document prepared based on the views of the local community. It outlines how they would like their village to develop in the future and it allows local communities to be actively involved in the formulation of design guidance. Its role is to advise how developments should be carried out so that it is sympathetic with the character and quality of the locality.

It describes the qualities and characteristics of a village can influence planning applications and decisions and helps guide change in ways that will preserve and enhance a village and its wider environment and/or landscape.

Producing a Village Design Statement provides local people with an opportunity to work together to make a positive contribution to the enhancement and future development of their village.

It encourages community spirit by bringing the local community together and is recognition of local people's knowledge and understanding of where they live.

If your group is interested in developing such a project please contact the office for an Expression of Interest form on email to Claire@ridc.ie or 090 66 30252.
