

Keith wins prestigious student media awards

Roscommon student Keith Hoare was the winner of a prestigious Oxygen.ie National Student Media Award at The Mansion House in Dublin on Wednesday night week.

This hugely successful event was attended this year by over 600 students and national media personalities, including hosts Kathryn Thomas and Dáithí Ó Sé, broadcaster George Hook, Paul Williams of The News of the World, Samantha Libreri of RTE and 2fm's DJ Ruth Scott.

Geraldine Kennedy, Editor of The Irish Times; Noirin Hegarty, Editor The Sunday Tribune, Niall Stokes of Hot Press and Micheál Ó Meallaigh of TG4 were among the highly respected judges for the 33 categories rewarding excellence in student media.

Keith was the winner of this year's Oxygen.ie National Student Media Award for Radio News

Production of the year. Keith is a 19-year-old first year student in DCU and is from Roscommon town.

For a young man he's already racked up an impressive list of achievements, including jointly representing Roscommon in the All-Ireland Student Enterprise Awards in 2007, organising visits by TDs Enda Kenny and Richard Bruton to DCU, and being a finalist in the DCU Law Society debates in 2009.

He has also contributed to Ros FM, and has over 60 hours of broadcast experience with the station.

From January 2009 to August 2009 he produced positive mental health shows directed at young people and also a music and chat show. Keith hopes to pursue a career in radio current affairs.

Make up and lashes now available at Scissor Sister

Make up, lashes and lots more are now available at Scissor Sister, Stone Court, Roscommon, as make-up artist Anne Kilroe joins her sister Laura Hanlon, ensuring that you can get your make up, nails or lashes done while also having your crowning glory attended to.

Anne has worked in the beauty industry for seven years. She spent three years working in salons in Galway, before going on to become a tutor in a private beauty college in Galway for four years. The college, owned by Georgina Price, is the longest established beauty college in Galway. There she taught CIDESCO students beauty, body and spa therapy.

Anne (nee Hanlon) is a native of Roscommon, being a sister of Laura in Scissor Sister and she has now moved back to Roscommon and set up home here. She continues to update her skills regularly and to this end recently completed a masterclass with the School of Make-up Artistry in Galway.

Anne is available on Fridays and Saturdays in Scissor Sister, Stonecourt, Roscommon and she along with her sister Laura, can cater for bridal parties at home. Just contact the salon for further details.

Make up tips are always available from Anne, be it in relation to colours or application.

She can give advice and answer queries you may have to do with skin care, body care and make up and remember that at Scissor Sister, you can save time while getting your highlights done by having your make up done at the same time, or perhaps a brow tint or lash tint. Special offers currently available include full make up and full set of individual lashes for €30, full make up with strip lashes for €25; make up for €18; individual lashes for €15 and strip lashes for €10.

Anne is available in Scissor Sister on Fridays and Saturdays from 9 am to 6 pm. For further information, contact Scissor Sister on (090) 66 34409.
